WRITINGS ON AMERICAN HISTORY, 1918.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF BOOKS AND ARTICLES ON UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN HISTORY PUBLISHED DURING THE YEAR 1918, WITH SOME MEMORANDA ON OTHER PORTIONS OF AMERICA.

COMPILED BY

GRACE GARDNER GRIFFIN.

PREFACE.

The annual bibliography which follows is the thirteenth number of a continuous series opening with 1906. A volume entitled Writings on American History, 1902, prepared by Professor Ernest C. Richardson, librarian of Princeton University, and Mr. Anson Ely Morse, was published at Princeton in 1904. A volume upon a plan more like the present, Writings on American History, 1903, prepared by Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mr. William A. Slade, and Mr. Ernest D. Lewis, under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, was published by that institution at Washington in 1905. After an interval followed the series, Writings on American History, 1906, 1907, and 1908, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin, and originally published by the Macmillan Company (New York, 1908, 1909, 1910).

Independent publication ceased for a time with the volume for 1908. Beginning with the volume for 1909, though the preparation of the material continued to be provided for by subscription, the printing and publication of the annual bibliography was assumed by the American Historical Association. In its Annual Reports for 1909, 1910, 1911, bibliographies of the material published in those years were included. The Yale University Press, with much public spirit, took up at this point the publication of the series, and issued as independent volumes the bibliographies for 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. Publication by that concern having now ended, the plan of incorporating this annual survey in the Annual Reports is now resumed.

To those who desire to have complete sets of the volumes hitherto published, it may be useful to know that the volume for 1902 can still be obtained from the library of Princeton University, that for 1903 from the Carnegie Institution of Washington, while those for 1906, 1907, 1908 (independent volumes), and bound "separates" of those for 1909, 1910, and 1911, can be obtained from the secretary of the American Historical Association. The volumes for the years 1912 to 1917, inclusive, are to be obtained from the Yale University Press.

The ensuing pages have been prepared upon the same system as in the preceding volumes. The intention of the compiler has been to include all books and articles, however brief, which contain anything of value to the history of the United States and of British North America. With respect to the regions lying south of the continental United States, however, and to the Pacific islands, the intention has been to include all writings on the history of these regions published in the United States or Europe; but the product (not relating to the United States) of South America and other southward regions has been left to their own bibliographers. New editions of books, if they contain no new material, have not been noticed. When no other date of publication is given, the date is 1918. The annotations have been confined to explanations of titles which seem to need explanation; or analyses of contents (in many cases taken from the catalogue cards of the Library of Congress), when analyses seemed requisite; or mention of critical appraisals in a few journals whose criticisms have value.

A topical arrangement has been followed. As a rule, the books and articles in any division are arranged alphabetically by the authors' names. In a few cases another arrangement appeared to be more helpful; in the case of biography and genealogy the subject of the book or article determines the alphabetical arrangement.

In the compilation of the material, performed at the Library of Congress, Miss Griffin has had most obliging assistance from Mr. Appleton P. C. Griffin, Chief Assistant Librarian, and the Librarian, Dr. Herbert Putnam has kindly afforded her every facility for her work.

Meanwhile the preparation of the manuscript, as distinguished from the printing and publication, has from 1906 to the present time been sustained by a group of subscribers consisting of various historical societies and individuals, the list for the present volume being the following: the American Historical Association, the Chicago Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Michigan Historical Commission, the Minnesota Historical Society, the Morrisson-Reeves Library, the New York Historical Society, the New York State Historical Association, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Mr. C. B. Alexander, Mr. T. E. Brittingham, Professor Henry W. Farnam, Mr. E. F. Greene, and Dr. J. G. Rosengarten. Several other friends of the undertaking have kindly contributed lesser sums towards the expenses of the year.

J. FRANKLIN JAMESON.

Historiography, Methodology, Study and Teaching.

Adams, George B. The English background of American institutions. HIST. OUTLOOK, IX (Nov.) 423-425. [46]

The writer makes the point that "there is abundant evidence to be had in any community that the unconscious background of our institutional life is English history, and that in it is to be found the source not of practices and institutions merely, but of ideas and convictions", and expresses his opinion that it is a part of the natural and direct business of the teacher to bring out this evidence.

Herrick, C. A. The early New-Englanders; what did they read? London, Alexander Moring limited. 19 p. [350]

Reprinted from "The Library," January 1918.

The writer's purpose is to show that, contrary to the opinion often expressed that the pre-Revolutionary New Englander read little or nothing in belles-lettres, in reality they had books in considerable abundance, and among them books of general literature.

Andrews, Charles M. Current lawful money of New England. AM. HIST. REV., XXIV (Oct.) 73-77. [363]

The writer concludes "that 'current lawful money of New England' might be either Massachusetts shillings, foreign silver at proclamation rates, or bills of credit at their face value, but that the latter was the commonly accepted meaning of the term."

A term frequently found in laws, bonds, inventories, and accounts, whose meaning is clearly not the same in all cases.

PREFACE.

The annual bibliography which follows is the fourteenth number of a continuous series opening with 1906. A volume entitled Writings on American History, 1902, prepared by Professor Ernest C. Richardson, librarian of Princeton University, and Mr. Anson Ely Morse, was published at Princeton in 1904. A volume upon a plan more like the present, Writings on American History, 1903, prepared by Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mr. William A. Slade, and Mr. Ernest D. Lewis, under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, was published by that institution at Washington in 1905. After an interval followed the series, Writings on American History, 1906, 1907, and 1908, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin, and originally published by the Macmillan Company (New York, 1908, 1909, 1910).

Independent publication ceased for a time with the volume for 1908. Beginning with the volume for 1909, though the preparation of the material continued to be provided for by subscription, the printing and publication of the annual bibliography was assumed by the American Historical Association. In its Annual Reports for 1909, 1910, 1911, bibliographies of the material published in those years were included. The Yale University Press, with much public spirit, took up at this point the publication of the series, and issued as independent volumes the bibliographies for 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. Publication by that concern having ended, the plan of incorporating this annual survey in the Annual Reports was resumed, and the bibliography for 1918 was incorporated, as a supplementary volume, in the Annual Report for that year. A similar procedure is followed with this bibliography for 1919.

To those who desire to have complete sets of the volumes hitherto published, it may be useful to know that the volume for 1902 can still be obtained from the library of Princeton University, that for 1903 from the Carnegie Institution of Washington, while those for 1906, 1907, 1908 (independent volumes), bound "separates" of those for 1909, 1910, and 1911, and the volume for 1918, can be obtained from the secretary of the American Historical Association.

The ensuing pages have been prepared upon the same system as in the preceding volumes. The intention of the compiler has been to include all books and articles, however brief, which contain anything of value to the history of the United States and of British North America. With respect to the regions lying south of the continental United States, however, and to the Pacific islands, the intention has been to include all writings on the history of these regions published in the United States or Europe; but the product (not relating to the United States) of South America and other southward regions has been left to their own bibliographers. New editions of books, if they contain no new material, have not been noticed. When no other date of publication is given, the date is 1919. The annotations have been confined to explanations of title which seem to need explanation; or analyses of contents (in many cases taken from the catalogue cards of the Library of Congress) when analyses seemed requisite; or mention of critical appraisals in a few journals whose criticisms have value.

A topical arrangement has been followed. As a rule, the books and articles in any division are arranged alphabetically by the authors' names. In a few cases another arrangement appeared to be more helpful; in the case of biography and genealogy the subject of the book or article determines the alphabetical arrangement.

In the compilation of the material, performed at the Library of Congress, Miss Griffin has had most obliging assistance from Mr. Appleton P. C. Griffin, Chief Assistant Librarian, and the Librarian, Dr. Herbert Putnam, has kindly afforded her every facility for her work.

The preparation of the manuscript, as distinguished from the printing and publication, has from the year 1906 to the present time been sustained by a group of subscribers consisting of various historical societies and individuals, the list for the present volume being the following: the American Historical Association, the Academy of Pacific Coast History, the Chicago Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Illinois State Historical Library, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Michigan Historical Commission, the Minnesota Historical Society, the Morrisson-Reeves Library, the New Jersey Historical Society, the New York Historical Society, the New York State Historical Association, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Mr. Charles Altschul, Mr. T. E. Brittingham, Mrs. Washington E. Connor, Professor Henry W. Farnam, Mr. Edwin F. Greene, Mr. Irving B. Richman, and the late Dr. J. G. Rosengarten. Several other friends of the undertaking have kindly contributed lesser sums toward the expenses of the year.

Raleigh's imperial policy was founded upon two convictions; the necessity of sea power for England, to be secured through naval strategy, through a great merchant marine, and through alliance with other sea powers against Spain, and secondly the advantages of a colonial empire in America as a rival to that of Spain. His guiding principle was the destruction of the Spanish menace.

- Buffington, A. H. British and French imperialism in North America. HIST. OUT-LOOK, X (Dec.) 489-496. [524]

A study of the two chief types of modern imperialism as exhibited in the colonial policy of France and England in North America in the 17th and 18th centuries. The colonial policy of France in America was definite and continuous, its principal feature being the occupation of the interior; that of England was haphazard and opportunist, her colonial expansion being the natural result of her commercial expansion.

- Crane, Verner W. The southern frontier in Queen Anne's war. AM. HIST. REV., XXIV (Apr.) 379-395. [525]

"It was on the frontier, in the course of Queen Anne's war, that the conflict was first clearly joined for the control of the valley of the Mississippi."

- Frothingham, T. G. Ship Bethel. U. S. N. INST. PROC., XLV (Oct.) 1695-1697. [526]
- The ship "Bethel" of Boston, in 1748, captured the Spanish merchant ship "Jesu Maria and Joseph" during the war between England and Spain.

- Storer, Malcolm. Admiral Vernon medals, 1739-1742. MASS. HIST. SOC. PROC. LII, 187-276. [530]

"This paper is based upon the series of medals struck to commemorate the operations in the West Indies during the years 1739-1741 of Vice-Admiral Edward Vernon, namely, the capture of Porto Bello, the fiasco at Cartagena and the contemplated attack upon Havana." This series is classed among American medals rather than English, as the actions took place not far from our coasts, and the colonists were vitally interested in the issues over which they were fought.

French and Indian War.

- Le combat de l'Atalante à la Pointe-aux-Trembles. BUL. RECHERCHES HIST., XXV (Feb.) 58-61. [531]

A naval engagement of the French and Indian war, May 16, 1760.

Buffington, A. H. British and French imperialism in North America. HIST. OUTLOOK, X (Dec.) 489–496. [2407]

A study of the two chief types of modern imperialism as exhibited in the colonial policy of France and England in North America in the 17th and 18th centuries. The colonial policy of France in America was definite and continuous, its principal feature being the occupation of the interior; that of England was haphazard and opportunist, her colonial expansion being the natural result of her commercial expansion.

Address the author, M. l'abbé Couillard-Després, curé at Frelshburg, Missisquoi county, Province of Quebec.

Published serially in the Revue canadienne, n. s., t. XXII–XXIV, 1918–1919.

A critical review and refutation of the viewpoint presented in the "Histoire de l'Acadie française de 1598 à 1763, par M. Moreau," pub. at Paris in 1873. The work of M. Moreau is concerned mainly with the conflict between the rival Acadians, d'Aulnay and La Tour, and pleads the cause of d'Aulnay, whose memory he seeks to avenge.

WRITINGS ON AMERICAN HISTORY, 1920.

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF BOOKS AND ARTICLES ON UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN HISTORY PUBLISHED DURING THE YEAR 1920, WITH SOME MEMORANDA ON OTHER PORTIONS OF AMERICA.

COMPILED BY
GRACE GARDNER GRIFFIN.

PREFACE.

The annual bibliography which follows is the fifteenth number of a continuous series opening with 1906. A volume entitled Writings on American History, 1902, prepared by Professor Ernest C. Richardson, librarian of Princeton University, and Mr. Anson Ely Morse, was published at Princeton in 1904. A volume upon a plan more like the present, Writings on American History, 1903, prepared by Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mr. William A. Slade, and Mr. Ernest D. Lewis, under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, was published by that institution at Washington in 1905. After an interval followed the series, Writings on American History, 1906, 1907, and 1908, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin, and originally published by the Macmillan Company (New York, 1908, 1909, 1910).

Independent publication ceased for a time with the volume for 1908. Beginning with the volume for 1909, though the preparation of the material continued to be provided for by subscription, the printing and publication of the annual bibliography was assumed by the American Historical Association. In its Annual Reports for 1909, 1910, 1911, bibliographies of the material published in those years were included. The Yale University Press, with much public spirit, took up at this point the publication of the series, and issued as independent volumes the bibliographies for 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. Publication by that concern having ended, the plan of incorporating this annual survey in the Annual Reports was resumed, and the bibliographies for 1918 and 1919 were incorporated, as supplementary volumes, in the Annual Reports for those years. A similar procedure is followed with this bibliography for 1920.

To those who desire to have complete sets of the volumes hitherto published, it may be useful to know that the volume for 1902 can still be obtained from the library of Princeton University, that for 1903 from the Carnegie Institution of Washington, while those for 1906, 1907, 1908 (independent volumes), and bound "separates" of those for 1909, 1910, and 1911, and the volumes for 1918 and 1919 can be obtained from the secretary of the American Historical Association.

The ensuing pages have been prepared upon the same system as in the preceding volumes. The intention of the compiler has been to include all books and articles, however brief, which contain anything of value to the history of the United States and of British North America. With respect to the regions lying south of the continental United States, however, and to the Pacific islands, the intention has been to include all writings on the history of these regions published in the United States or Europe; but the product (not relating to the United States) of South America and other southward regions has been left to their own bibliographers. New editions of books, if they contain no new material, have not been noticed. When no other date of publication is given, the date is 1920. The annotations have been confined to explanations of title which seem to need explanation; or analyses of contents (in many cases taken from the catalogue cards of the Library of Congress) when analyses seemed requisite; or mention of critical appraisals in a few journals whose criticisms have value.

A topical arrangement has been followed. As a rule, the books and articles in any division are arranged alphabetically by the authors' names. In a few cases another arrangement appeared to be more helpful; in the case of biography and genealogy the subject of the book or article determines the alphabetical arrangement.

In the compilation of the material, performed at the Library of Congress, Miss Griffin has had most obliging assistance from Mr. Appleton P. C. Griffin, Chief Assistant Librarian, and the Librarian Dr. Herbert Putnam, has kindly afforded her every facility for her work.

Meanwhile the preparation of the manuscript, as distinguished from the printing and publication, has from 1906 to the present time been sustained by a group of subscribers consisting of various historical societies and individuals, the present list being the following: The American Catholic Historical Association, the American Historical Association, the American Jewish Historical Society, the Chicago Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Florida Historical Society, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the Illinois State Historical Library, the Iowa State Historical Society, the McCormick Agricultural Library, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Michigan Historical Commission, the Minnesota State Historical Society, the New York Historical Society, the Ohio State History Teachers' Association, the Oregon Historical Society, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Mr. Charles Altschul, Mr. James Phinney Baxter, 3d, Mrs. Washington E. Connor, Miss Amelia D. Campbell, Professor Henry W. Farnam, Mr. Edwin F. Greene, Professor John B. McMaster, Mr. Stewart L. Mims, Mr. Henry C. Morris, Mr. Irving B. Richman, Mr. Walter Scott, Professor W. H. Siebert, and Mr. John B. Stetson, jr.

Replies to a letter written by Sr. D. Genaro Cavestany, Nov. 24, 1919, in which he pointed out two errors in the inscription on the monument mentioned above, the first criticism relating to the designation of the strait of Magellan as connecting the "Mar del Sur" with the "Mar del Norte"; the second referring to the statement that Magellan set out with the intent of finding the strait between the two seas. Señor Merino believes the criticisms to be unfounded.

- The writer believes that the lost Atlantis of Plato is to be identified as the region now known as Morocco, Algeria, and Tunis, and attempts to locate the ruins of Cérne, the capital of Atlantis, in this region. He suggests that the prehistoric Toltecs of Mexico may have been the American descendants of the inhabitants of the Atlantis of the ancients.

Chapin, Howard Millar. Dogs in early New England. Providence: Press of E. A. Johnson and co. 11 p. illus., plates. [557]

Also pub. in the Rhode Island historical society collections, v. XIII, Oct. 1920.

The writer has gathered numerous references from the records of early New England showing that dogs played no small part in the lives and thoughts of our colonial ancestors.

Colegrove, Kenneth. New England town mandates; instructions to the deputies in colonial legislatures. COL. SOC. MASS. PUB., XXI, 411-449. [558]

One of the characteristics of the New England town-meeting system in colonial days was the practice of voting instructions to the deputies in the popular assemblies. This practice continued until the third decade after the adoption of the federal Constitution. The writer notes also the employment by the towns of the initiative, the referendum, and the recall.

- Ford, Worthington Chauncey. The Isle of Pines; an essay in bibliography. Boston: The Club of odd volumes. xi, 116 p. 15 facsims. [2406]

Text of the "Isle of Pines," combined parts: p. 51-87.

A bibliographical account of the various editions of the pamphlet entitled "The Isle of Pines, or a late Discovery of a fourth Island in Terra Australis, Incognita, being a True Relation of certain English persons who in the dayes of Queen Elizabeth, making a Voyage to the East Indies, were cast away and wracked upon the Island," printed in 1668, and usually classed as early Americana. The writer of this account advances the theory that this classification is erroneous, and that the pamphlet does not relate to an incident in American history, as has heretofore generally been supposed, but was purely a tale of adventure written by Henry Neville, an English political writer of the period.
